

Happenings at Upper Bucks County Technical School

Ashlee Lear: Tech school's student of the month an animal lover

Ashlee Lear, a Quakertown student, has been named student of the month at the Upper Bucks County Technical School.

A senior, Ashlee is enrolled in the Animal Technology program. She loves the program and is passionate about helping animals. For as long as she can remember, she has always wanted to be a veterinarian. Ashlee will enroll at Bucks County Community College to start her post-secondary education before transferring to Delaware Valley University.

Ashlee was nominated by her teacher, Caitlyn Danka, because of her leadership and academic achievement. In addition to having a grade of 100 percent in the class, Ashlee is the Kennel Supervisor and has been "excelling at managing and teaching other students." In her recommendation, Danka praised Ashlee for her commitment and initiative, saying she has been staying after school to assist her.

Ashlee is a member of the UBCTS National Technical Honor Society and has earned First Honors three times. In 2015-2016 she was recognized as the Outstanding Level II student for her program. She will be showing an animal at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in January and it will be her second consecutive time showing an animal. Last year she showed a goat named Fred. This is a special year because she will be showing one of the lambs born here last spring. She has named him Cujo, and is spending a lot of time with Cujo to prepare him for the Farm Show.

Ashlee has worked at Quakertown Veterinary Clinic as a Kennel Assistant and was recently hired as a Grooming Assistant at Rockhill Veterinary Associates. She also recently volunteered at the Last Chance Ranch with the Rotary Club. She enjoyed the experience so much that she has made a commitment to continue volunteering there.

Ashlee is very driven, hard-working, and committed to getting the job done right. In her spare time she can be found with friends and family or engaged in her hobby, which is photography. It will come as no surprise that her favorite subjects for her pictures are animals.

The place to eat
